Course Description

Preparing for the Future of AI in Education is designed as a visionary roadmap for the long-term educational shift ahead. As AI evolves from a trend into a fundamental paradigm shift in instruction, the course empowers K-12 teachers to move beyond simple information retrieval toward high-level human-AI collaboration. Educators will define AI literacy and explore how to remain a vital, human-centric architect of learning in an automated world.

In this course, they will:

- Use Language Learning Models to work as teaching assistants for brainstorming, research, and drafting content.
- Develop an AI literacy personal action plan for short-term and long-term growth.
- Cultivate students' durable, future-ready skills that will help them in a changing workplace.
- Curate AI-generated materials to guide their students through the complex ethics of a digital society.
- Create a phased plan to evolve into an AI learning culture.
- Define the unique, enduring role that teachers provide their students that goes beyond AI capabilities.
- Create a visionary concept for AI's effect on education and personal use.

Teachers will come away with newfound confidence in using AI to save time and improve their students' learning experience. The course supports all K-12 educators, regardless of prior AI experience, with hands-on activities, extensive AI-generated and online resources, and YouTube tutorials. Activities and assignments are integrated with the course resources. This is a standalone course within the AI Flash Innovative Course Series. Access to students is not necessary for successful course completion or mastery of the course objectives.

Note: There is no required book for this course.

National Standards Addressed in This Course

National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS)

(<http://www.nbpts.org/standards-five-core-propositions/>)

First published in 1989 and updated in 2016, What Teachers Should Know and Be Able to Do articulates the National Board's Five Core Propositions for teaching. The Five Core Propositions - comparable to medicine's Hippocratic Oath — set forth the profession's vision for accomplished teaching. Together, the propositions form the basis of all National Board Standards and the foundation for National Board Certification. Course assignments have been designed so students can demonstrate excellence against these professional teaching standards whenever possible.

- Proposition 1: Teachers are committed to students and their learning
- Proposition 2: Teachers know the subject they teach and how to teach those subjects to students
- Proposition 3: Teachers are responsible for managing and monitoring student learning
- Proposition 4: Teachers think systematically about their practice and learn from experience
- Proposition 5: Teachers are members of learning communities

Common Core State Standards (CCSS) (www.corestandards.org)

The Common Core State Standards provide a consistent, clear understanding of what students are expected to learn, so teachers and parents know what they need to do to help them. The standards are designed to be robust and relevant to the real world, reflecting the knowledge and skills that our young people need for success in college and careers. With American students fully prepared for the future, our communities will be best positioned to compete successfully in the global economy.

Instructor/Student Contact Information

Throughout the course participants will be communicating with the instructor and their classmates on a regular basis using asynchronous discussion forums. Students are provided with instructor contact information in the event they want to make email or phone contact. In addition, students are encouraged to email or phone the instructor at any time. Students will also receive feedback on the required assignments as they are submitted.

Forums

Participation is an important expectation of this course and all online courses. Online discussions promote reflection and analysis while allowing students to appreciate and evaluate positions that others express. While students may not be engaging with the same students throughout this course, they will be expected to offer comments, questions, and replies to the discussion question whenever possible. The faculty role in the discussion forum is that of an observer and facilitator.

Coursework Hours

Based on the Carnegie Unit standard, a unit of graduate credit measures academic credit based on the number of hours the student is engaged in learning. This includes all time spent on the course: reading the textbook, watching videos, listening to audio lessons, researching topics, writing papers, creating projects, developing lesson plans, posting to discussion boards, etc. Coursework offered for FPU Continuing Education graduate credit adheres to 45 hours per semester unit for the 900-level courses. Therefore, a student will spend approximately 135 hours on a typical 3-unit course.

Services for Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities are eligible for reasonable accommodations in their academic work in all classes. In order to receive assistance, the student with a disability must provide the Academic Support Center with documentation, which describes the specific disability. The documentation must be from a qualified professional in the area of the disability (i.e. psychologist, physician or educational diagnostician). Once documentation is on file, arrangements for reasonable accommodations can be made. For more information and for downloadable forms, please go to <https://www.fresno.edu/departments/disability-access-education>.
