In this hands-on summer camp, teens will explore the basics of the building and construction trades while learning practical skills they can use for life. Campers will learn about personal safety, practice using tools commonly used in construction and design, and develop foundational skills like measuring, marking, and cutting materials. Along the way, students will work with adhesives such as wood glue and putty while creating their own projects—including birdhouses and planters they can take home. It's a fun, creative way to learn real-world skills and discover the world of building and design.

Closed toe shoes are required. No crocs are allowed. No shorts are allowed. Students must wear pants. Lunch is provided. Due to the large number of participants, we are unfortunately unable to accommodate individual food allergy or dietary requests. Participants with specific dietary needs may wish to bring their own food to ensure their requirements are met.
