Advanced topics for those working in cold case:

- How to build a strong circumstantial case your prosecutor will love!
- Innovative strategies and hot topics in cold case investigations: checklists and where to find the resources you need.
- In-depth interview strategies, methods for locating clandestine burials, the latest in DNA - familial and genealogical testing, and how to use forensic art and the media as investigative tools.
- Hear from fellow detectives on what long-term case they solved and how they broke the case.
- Present an open case for discussion and review. Featuring Vidocq Society Cold Case review team members.
- The seminar will also include a tour and presentations at the USF FORT (Facility for Outdoor Research & Training) for human decomposition (aka. bodyfarm) on complex outdoor crime scenes and staged bodies (bring your boots - this seminar is hands-on).

*One-year membership for new members to the International Homicide Investigators Association.

*Attendees will have the unprecedented opportunity to consult with members of the Vidocq Society in break-out sessions. The Vidocq Society, established in 1990, is one of the nation's leading cold case organizations who provide resources, expertise, and assistance to law enforcement.
