

41ST ANNUAL GORE-FARHA CRITICAL CARE NURSING SYMPOSIUM

APRIL 27-28, 2023 • VIRTUAL EVENT

WELCOME

This 2-day Symposium is designed for critical care nurses, as well as other nurses and allied health professionals, desiring to enhance their critical care nursing knowledge base. An outstanding group of national and local speakers with critical care expertise comprise the faculty.

OBJECTIVES

THURSDAY, APRIL 27

- Identify three safe ways to react to an active threat situation in a medical setting.
- Discuss components of a temporary pacemaker and strategies to manage pacemaker malfunctions and postoperative dysrhythmias.
- Define indications, potential benefits, and key nursing considerations of utilizing ketamine for pain control, analgosedation, and intubation.
- Explore precipitating risk factors, clinical presentation and interventions to manage patients with Diabetic Ketoacidosis and Hyperglycemic Hyperosmolar Syndrome.
- Discuss various types of pulmonary complications related to right heart disease including treatment modalities such as fluid management and mechanical ventilation.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28

- Describe the color coding groups used in mass casualty triage as well as proper use of a combat application tourniquet.
- Review evolving research and evidence related to Covid 19 and utilize case studies to discuss care, treatment guidelines and management of acute stroke in this patient population.
- Explain vasopressor titration in patients with septic shock utilizing the Surviving Sepsis Campaign Guidelines.
- Evaluate current research and literature for application in Neuro Critical Care clinical practice.
- Examine causes and treatment options for acute kidney injury and explore Kidney Disease: Improving Global Outcomes (KDIGO) guidelines as they relate to critically ill patients across multiple patient populations.
